

Finding a good, dried egg

ASK
ANNE & NAN

zzdd DEAR ANNE AND NAN: Do you have any idea where I could obtain powdered whole eggs? I have a mentally and physically challenged son of 29 who lives on pureed foods and eggnogs. I am weary of cooking egg mixture each day (to prevent salmonella infection) for his consumption. Egg Beaters are not the whole egg I desire for him. — Jean Stuker, Peru, Ind.

DEAR JEAN: Just up the pike from our homes is the King Arthur Flour Company's Baker's Store. Bakers and wannabe bakers flock to this emporium. Fortunately, they also have a fabulous catalog. The catalog carries meringue powder, powdered whites and dried whole eggs. An 8-ounce bag of dried whole eggs is $4.25 plus postage. You just combine 1½ tablespoons dried egg with 3 tablespoons of water for each large fresh egg. To order, call (800) 827-6836, or write: The Baker's Catalog, P.O. Box 876, Norwich, VT 05055-0876.

DEAR ANNE AND NAN: I'm looking for a perfume called Evening in Paris which came in pretty blue bottles. I'd like to find a place that still sells this, as I'd love to surprise a friend with a bottle for her birthday. — Marilyn Kyes, Central City, Neb.

DEAR MARILYN: Evening in Paris perfume is now known by its French name, Soir De Paris, and it's pricey — $49 for a 1.7-ounce bottle. To order, call (800) 874-1118, or write Parfumell, 6441 Southwest Blvd., Fort Worth, TX 71632.

DEAR ANNE AND NAN: I have been trying to gather information about the art of tatting, with no luck. I've tried all the bookstores and craft shops, and have even tried the fabric stores, but no one seems to have any information on the art. My husband and my neighbor suggested I write to you two. I really am interested in learning the art. Any information would be greatly appreciated. —Mrs. Joanne Cavender, Gonzales, La.

DEAR JOANNE: We had a nice chat with the proprietor of a shop called The Lacemaker, Lace and Needle Art. She told us that tatting is very popular and when the shop offers courses, the tatting ones fill up first. The shop has a full range of tatting books, patterns and supplies, as well as bobbin lace and needlepoint materials. To receive their catalog, call (330) 847-6535, or write: The Lacemaker, 4602 Mahoning Ave. N.W., Suite C, Warren, OH 44483.
